2. GENERAL REGULATIONS

- a. DSL Service, when purchased from this tariff, may not be used in connection with an interstate application. DSL Service which is used for interstate applications is provided only from the Company's interstate service offering. The interstate classification is determined by the origination and termination of the communication, including the set-up and actual transmission.
- b. The End-User will be connected to DSL Service at the same Network Interface Device employed by the Company for applicable voice service which are limited to 1MB, and 1ML service.
- c. DSL Service provides connectivity from the End-User's local exchange service to a host computer, i.e. a corporation's internal data network via the Company's ATM Cell Relay Service.
- d. The rules and regulations specified herein for DSL Service are in addition to the applicable rules and regulations found in this and other Company Guidebooks and tariff schedules.
- e. The rates for DSL Service as found in the following section, are in addition to applicable rates and charges, rules and regulations for Customer's local exchange service as found in the California Guidebook.
- f. DSL orders can only be accepted if the line is specified and available for provisioning.
- g. If the Company has reason to believe that permitting the commencement or continuation of providing DSL in this tariff schedule is adversely affecting or would adversely affect the Company's ability to provide, complete or maintain the level of or quality of its services to its Customers, the Company may refuse to provide DSL or may discontinue providing such service.
