   a. Types 6101 and 6105

   A two wire interface with effective two wire facilities without equalization or specified transmission loss. Signaling applied by customer-provided equipment must be within the criteria as described in the Bell System Technical Reference "Transmission Specifications for Private Line Metallic Circuits" (PUB 43401).

2. Interoffice Channels will be similar for all types of use for Series 6100 Channel Service. Customers must have at least one Interoffice Channel for connecting wire center serving areas in multi-office exchanges when there are station locations in different wire center serving areas.

3. No multi-station bridging charge is applicable for stations bridged on a customer's premises. A maximum of four bridged stations per premises per Local Channel is allowed for Type 6105.

C. Allowance for Interruption

When Series 6100 service intraexchange channels is interrupted for a period of 30 seconds or more, credit is allowed on the basis of five minutes of each fraction thereof, of interruption; except that two or more such interruptions occurring during an period of five consecutive minutes shall be considered as one interruption.

The amount of credit is the proportionate part of five minute multiples related to the number of minutes encompassed by the applicable monthly or occasional charge for the portion of the service affected by the interruption

E. Service Connection Charges

a. Service Ordering Charges are applicable, per service order, for receiving and recording information and/or taking action in connection with a customer's request and processing the necessary data. These charges include the engineering design function. Only one Service Ordering Charge applies for, (1) a two point channel service, (2) a multi-point channel service where all points are ordered and installed at the same time, and (3) more than one channel service ordered and installed at the same time of the same type for termination at the same premises.

b. Premises Visit Charges are applicable, per channel for termination of a channel between buildings on the same continuous property, channels not routed via the central office, a Local Channel, or for Inside Moves. Only one Premises Visit Charge applies when more than one channel service of the same type is terminated at the same premises at the same time.

c. Channel connection charges are applicable for the connection and testing of Local channels, channel Terminals, and channels between buildings on the same continuous property, channels not routed via the central office, or for Inside Moves. The charges applicable are those nonrecurring charges associated with Loca Channels, Channel Terminals, and channels between buildings on the same continuous property, and channels not routed via the central office. Connection charges for moving a channel termination from one point within the same building (Inside Moves) are per termination and are as specified in f. and g. following.

B103.3.2 Series 2000 Channels

A. (Obsoleted November 22, 1997, Type 4: Not available for new installations, moves or transfers. Existing customers may add channels only to the extent that they are available.)

Channel Services provided under the provisions of this Guidebook are offered for IntraLATA Services only. Services consisting of Interexchange Channels, Station Terminals, and channel arrangements are classified by Types. The various Series and Types are described in terms of circuit characteristics and use.

1. Interexchange services are divided into two basic rate elements, Station Terminals and Interexchange Channels. Customers must have at least one Station Terminal for each station location except for business or residence off-premises extension channel services; and the variation in termination falls into the following category:

   a. Those Station Terminals used to provide a transmission path to connect terminal equipment and are defined in terms of electrical interfaces. The customer is responsible for selecting the proper type of Station Terminal to meet his service requirements. Interconnection protection criteria, terms and conditions as described in B2.6 shall apply.

2. When a variety of terminal equipment is at different station locations, but part of the same channel, the customer is responsible for determining that the Company's Station Terminal is compatible with his terminal equipment. The Company has the overall responsibility, up to a demarcation point on the customer's premises at which the interface appears.

3. NXX Banding Description - Different rates are applicable for each type of Station Terminal based on the Band number assigned to the Station Terminal. Band numbers are determined based on the distance between the primary wire center in which the interexchange channel is terminated and the serving wire center of the customer premises. The distance is calculated using the interexchange mileage formula stated in B3.3.3.A. Band numbers are assigned to Station Terminals according to the distance schedule following (fractional miles are considered full miles):

Distance
