

Intercom^{/1/}

/2/

Intercom permits intercommunication between two or more customer provided telephone stations terminating on the same telephone number. The customer activates an intercom call by picking up customer's receiver and dialing customer's own telephone number. When the customer hears a busy tone signal, customer must return the receiver to its hang up position within fifteen seconds. A distinctive ringing tone is then activated at all the customer's telephone or the intercom activation is canceled. The intercom feature is deactivated when all connected parties terminate their intercom call. The Intercom feature is offered to individual signal line residence and business customers within the exchange areas and central office where facilities and operating conditions permit.

Limitations:

- a. Intercom is not provided on lines arranged for multi-line or series completion hunting.
- b. Intercom capability cannot be utilized on a line which has Call Forwarding activated.
- c. The Intercom feature is operational on a line equipped with Call Waiting; however, Call Waiting is deactivated for the duration of the Intercom Call.
- d. Intercom calls may not be initiated or included as any part of a three-way call.
- e. On or after December 18, 1989 the offering of Intercom will only be furnished to the same customer, on the premise and superseded. Additions, deletions or changes to the existing Intercom system are prohibited.

/1/ Grandfathered – See Limitations.
