6.3 Rates and Charges

A. Application of Nonrecurring Charges

Nonrecurring charges for channels and services described in this section of the tariff include work done up to the point of minimum penetration and are applied on a per design order, per channel basis. Service connection charges contained in Part 22, Section 3, do not apply to these channels or services unless otherwise stated. Extension of network terminating or inside wire used in conjunction with BELL Channel Services is work done on the Carrier's Customer side of the minimum point of penetration and is subject to service connection charges contained in Part 22, Section 3.

- 1) Per channel charges apply for each channel connecting the same terminating points. Specific per channel charges for each part, i.e., local distribution channels, inter-wire center channels, etc., are cumulatively applied for the overall per channel charge.
- 2) Per design order charges apply cumulatively to the parts of the overall channel. However, they apply only once per occasion of a Carrier's request for identical services connecting the same terminating points for resale to its customer.
- 3) Nonrecurring charges for the Special Digital Channel Type 8806, which provides remote service capability for Switched Digital Service, are in addition to the installation charges shown in Part 22, Section 3. However, the Design Order Charge shown in this Tariff, applies instead of the Design Order Charge in Part 22, Section 3, which is applicable to Switched Digital Service provided within the same wire center serving area as the location of the switch.
- 4) A special billing option is available to Inter-Wire Center Exchange Service (IWCES) or Inter-Wire Center Station Service (IWCSS) customers.

When ordering service, the Carrier for resale to its customer, may choose a reduced Design Order Charge of $250.00. To qualify for this special billing option, the service must continue unchanged for 12 months at the Carrier's Customer's same address. If disconnected prior to the 12 month period, a termination liability applies, which is the difference between the $250.00 Design Order Charge actually paid and the full Design Order Charge which would have otherwise have been applicable will be charged to the Carrier.

This option is limited to Carrier's resale of service to its customers whose telephone service consists entirely of:

- A single exchange line (IWCES, IWCSS or local)
- One local exchange line and one IWCES or IWCSS line

B. Installment Payment Plan for Nonrecurring Charges

Carriers for resale to its customers may, at the time of ordering, elect to pay nonrecurring charges for BELL Channel Services in consecutive equal monthly installments over a period of three months.

C. Application of Recurring Rates

Recurring rates apply for each channel, service or option described in this section on a monthly basis unless otherwise noted.

D. Application of Multi-Point Channel Rates

Multi-point channels are bridged and serviced from the wire center. Multi-point circuit legs within a wire center serving area are to be rated as local distribution channels of the same channel type unless otherwise specifically noted in this tariff. Bridging equipment and other multi-point related service options apply, as appropriate, in addition to the rates and charges for multi-point channels.

E. Multiple Channel Discount^{1/} (C)

When five or more 2000 or 3000 series type channels of the same type (e.g., 2001) connect the same customer or user locations over a Telephone Company determined Carrier's route, a 10% discount of monthly rates applies to those channels over four.

/1/ Effective October 1, 2001, Multiple Channel Discount will no longer be available to Carriers for resale to new customers. Carrier's existing customers may retain Multiple Channel Discount until March 1, 2002.
